Details relating to personal data are in our separate GDPR policy, available from the same place as this document.

Cookies

The maslins.co.uk website uses cookies for the purposes of analytics tracking. The sole purpose of this is to help ensure our adverts only appear in front of people where there's a good chance they're interested in our services. Yes this helps us minimise wastage on marketing spend, but it also helps minimise the annoyance of adverts, by hopefully ensuring they don't appear in situations where someone wouldn't be interested.

No personal data is gathered or stored. It purely connects search phrases with activity on our website.
